SPOFFORD-KELLOGG

The Committee still Taking Testimony at New Orleans—A Sensation During the Session.

NEW ORLEANS Nov 28—Before the committee to day J M Jewett testified as to the contradictory testimony of Hauser about Blanchard and himself going to Kellogg's house with the returns and working on them there. The reason why the registration books were taken to the custom house was because the evidence to which both parties referred was in the office of the U S supervisor of registration who was clerk of the circuit court and had an office in the custom house.

H C Brower a discharged employe of the internal revenue office testified that Morris Marks told him some time last summer at his private office when they were alone that he could take care of any of his own friends whilst this fight was being made on Kellogg and that he had to appoint ours to keep them from squealing on Kellogg.

Paul Trevigne, clearance clerk in the custom house testified that Milon came to him very indignant at the rumor that he (Milon) had made an affidavit against Kellogg and got him to write a letter to Kellogg denying the rumor. Milon signed this letter which was put in evidence yesterday the contrast of signatures showing that Milon did not sign the so-called affidavit.

J Tallyn manager of the W U T Co recalled. Senator Hill stated to him that telegrams produced by him before the committee appeared to be exclusively to Kellogg, whilst witness had been requested to produce all telegrams to and from Kellogg. He answered that he had compiled literally with the written demand served upon him which said all telegrams to Wm P Kellogg. Senator Hill then requested witness to produce all telegrams from Kellogg. Witness replied that it was impossible to do so, as all the May and June business had been shipped to New York last Tuesday by order of Superintendent Meriwether. Senator Hill asked if this had been done to get the dispatches out of the way of the committee. Witness replied that it might be as the policy of the company was not to expose the business of its customers if it could be avoided.

The chairman asked the witness: "Did you not distinctly understand me to [illegible] all telegrams to and from Kellogg?" Witness: "Verbally yes sir but your written instructions said only all telegrams to Kellogg."

The chairman said that he had entrusted the preparation of written instructions to Spofford's counsel.

Senator Cameron said that although witness was not a lawyer he [illegible] in [illegible].

A REMARKABLE WOMAN'S LIFE AND DEATH

AN ACTUAL HISTORY WHICH HAS ALL THE FLAVOR OF ROMANCE

There died in New York a few days ago a lady aged eighty one the survivor of three husbands who in her time gained more notoriety than any woman in American history. Though married a third time Mrs Eaton retained the name of her second husband, General John H Eaton, who was a strong personal friend of Andrew Jackson's and served for a time in his cabinet as secretary of war. She was the plump and pleasing daughter of an inn keeper in the early days of Washington and was celebrated for her beauty and vivacity. Her name was Margaret O'Neil. Jackson was a patron of her father's house and the young girl long before he was president was dandled on his knee. The affection he formed for the child he never lost for the woman and no half hearted friend he stood by her with stalwart oaths and terrible frowns through some particularly dark and trying times and until victory assured was for her over all her enemies. When quite young the tavern keeper's daughter was married to a paymaster in the navy named Timberlake. His duties called him away from Washington and his bride with a frequency she seemed to fancy more than he. The gossip of the time [illegible] no doubt and telling only half truths when it took the trouble to concern itself with truth at all asserts that Old Hickory himself was not sorry to see the paymaster at his official rather than his marital post. Be this as it may Timberlake [illegible] that all his fancy pictured it and while light tongues were running on freely about his charming wife he put a period to his existence with a pistol shot. In her widow's cap Madam [illegible] the tavern keeper's daughter was handsomer and more vivacious than ever and just in proportion as Jackson's friendship for her and her family was asserted in the homely and hearty manner characteristic of the man scandal grew [illegible] assaults on the Washington beauty for envy was [illegible] dared assert that the widow was not beautiful. When General Eaton who had been in the senate and was a most devoted adherent of the hero of New Orleans carried off the widow after a brief courtship the [illegible] more than ever positive that Timberlake's pistol was a protest against [illegible] interference in the domestic affairs of a [illegible] of the United States. Eaton became secretary of war and the war [illegible] began. Social life in Washington was [illegible] absolutely shocked at [illegible] that tavern keeper's [illegible] the rank her husband gave [illegible] entitled her to [illegible] of the old families [illegible] and other [illegible] madam. The opposition to the [illegible] lady was [illegible] to the enemies of General Jackson of whom John C Calhoun then vice president was one of the bitterest. His friends were all [illegible]. Nearly all Washington [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] She carried [illegible] through [illegible]. He was [illegible] already reaching, the White House which [illegible] was forced to [illegible] from [illegible] Scandal [illegible] her [illegible] married life [illegible] left his widow a handsome fortune. A rich cheerful charitable [illegible]

[illegible] charge [illegible] for a [illegible] she [illegible] frosts [illegible] was dissipated [illegible] gradually [illegible] the last few days [illegible] her [illegible] world to leave she said [illegible] the day before she died "I am not afraid to die but it is such a beautiful world!" In answer to a suggestion of something that should be done on the morrow she said "No tomorrow, I shall be here only a little while to morrow."

CHINESE CRIMINALS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Apropos to the proposed commutation of the sentence of Ah Lee convicted of the murder of Chin Su Ying the following list of murders committed in this city during the past few years by Chinese desperadoes together with an account of the punishment incurred by the murderers may be of interest.

1 Some [illegible] years since Lee [illegible] was killed on Second between Alder and Morrison streets. Lee F [illegible] the supposed murderer was sent to the penitentiary for [illegible] time where he afterwards died.

2 In September 18[illegible] [illegible] was shot on Alder street between First and Second. Lee [illegible] the supposed murderer spent some two years in the penitentiary for the crime.

3 In the fall of 18[illegible] a Chinese woman was killed near the police station in broad day light. Wong Wing the supposed murderer made his escape without arrest.

4 In February 18[illegible] Moy [illegible] was killed in one of their houses. Moy Sing was tried for the murder and escaped punishment.

5 A little over one year ago Chin Su Ying was killed in the Joss house on Second street. [illegible] Lee Quong was sentenced to the state prison for life and Ah Lee was sentenced to be hung for the crime.

6 A few weeks after the murder of Chin Su Ying a man was found hung in the Joss house under circumstances that convinced the coroner's jury that he had been murdered. No arrests.

7 Ho Quai was shot on Taylor street a few weeks since in attempting to escape from a life of prostitution. Wong Tong Fook the supposed murderer is on trial for the crime. Seven murders and no executions. When a certain Italian who saw the body of the murdered Gandia thrown into the Tiber was asked why he had not reported the fact to the authorities he replied "I have seen in my time a hundred dead bodies thrown into the river at that same place without any inquiry ever being made respecting them and so I did not consider the event a matter of any importance."

From the rapid increase of crime among the Chinese which the above ghastful recital brings to mind it is plain that an occasional murder among the Chinese is no longer considered a matter of any importance by their criminal class as indeed why should it be when justice is so easily eluded.

The immunity from punishment which seems to be vouchsafed to Chinese criminals suggests the query, whether or not justice may not be altogether too blind in expecting to find a heathen conscience by a Christian oath. It also provokes the thought that possibly the class system of the Chinese which enables them to raise by assessment any amount of money for judicial purposes is not calculated to subserve the ends of justice as administered in America.

If we mistake not the argument by which in the case of Ah Lee it is proposed to move to clemency of His Excellency Gov Thayer—which argument practically amounts to this that one guilty man having escaped punishment therefore his associates in crime should also escape—will seem to many good citizens not versed in legal technicalities to be a strong argument why the law should be permitted to vindicate its supremacy in the case under consideration. Very respectfully

The Daily [illegible]

MONDAY MORNING DEC 1 1879

THE XLVI CONGRESS ITS RESULTS

The congress which meets to-day assembles [illegible] until March 4 1881 though the need of the country for the exercise of its legislative functions for such a protracted period is not at all apparent. The people who [illegible] will be satisfied with [illegible] less of the time of the members if it be devoted to those measures of public interest and importance which demand attention. It is thought that the democrats are likely to guard to some extent against the follies of the special session as that party has experienced the effects of those follies in the political condemnation which has been expressed at the polls of the attempts of members of that party to reform the institutions of the country according to their peculiar views. We believe however that the democracy can be relied on to do some foolish thing just in the nick of time for the result to inure to the benefit of the opposition. A great many instances in which things have taken this course might be cited but no more forcible illustration of it could be found than the action of that party in the special session which met last spring. Its members went to Washington with considerable flourish of trumpets and loud professions of their intention to correct all the mistakes of government which had been so numerous in democratic eyes and especially did they propose to die in the last ditch rather than appropriate a single dollar to feed and clothe the army or to run certain branches of the government pertaining to the courts unless the administration should recede from certain positions expressed in previous vetoes of bills making appropriations for these purposes. They assembled at the capitol. The call went out all over the land for the faithful to be promptly on hand and for every gallant son to stand in the fore front of the battle which was to be waged against all the results of all the changes which had come on the country for a decade and a half. To accomplish these things the proper preliminaries had to be carried out and the first of these was the election of that prince of demagogues, Randall as speaker of the house and to do this it was necessary that our Oregon representative should be bustled out of his warm bed on the Long Tom at dead of night and hurried over sea and land, by special boat and train, at a speed at which no mortal ever went before. But after all this parade the special session convened, and from about the third day it began to vacillate, then to recede, and before it closed all the brags of the party which controlled it were stilled by the reproaches of an indignant people, who saw their treasury being emptied and their business injured by the veriest follies in attempts at legislation which have ever been put on the records of the nation. When the time of adjournment arrived nothing very seriously harmful had been done, and but little good accomplished. The people were glad to be relieved of that suspense which too often affects the present well being of the country, while those who make and unmake our laws are sitting at Washington.

There is less flourish now than last spring, though the intentions expressed embrace quite as much ground as then and while the provocations to do violent things and to pass radical measures are about as great, it may not be unreasonable to expect that the late elections have taught the democrats a lesson of political expediency which will be manifested in the more guarded expression of leaders of that party and in the modification of extreme measures insisted upon a few months ago. The democrats ought to have learned by this time, that the north claims equal rights in this government with the south, and that attempts to run it in the once well worn ruts of ultra bourbonism, can never be successful again. If this session of congress shall be as barren of satisfaction to the country as former sessions under democratic control, since the war, then indeed will the republicans have "assurance made doubly sure" in a sweeping victory in the national contest next year. The party now controlling the legislative department of the government may, by attending to business strictly pertaining to the legitimate sphere of their action, maintain the standing of their party and enable it to make a strong, though probably not a successful fight one year from now, but pursuing its former course it will go to certain defeat if not total and permanent oblivion.

THE COUNT IN MAINE

The governor and council of Maine have given notice that they will be in session to-day and will sit from day to day till the 13th for the purpose of examining the official returns, and that candidates claiming irregularities or other causes presumed to vitiate their election will have reasonable opportunity to be heard personally or by authorized counsel. At the late election in that state, Davis, republican, received 68 408 votes Smith greenbacker, 47 510, Garcelon, democrat, 21,170 and Bradbury, democrat and scattering 311. Notwithstanding Mr Davis majority of more than twenty thousand over his highest competitor, and more than double as much over Garcelon, the present governor, the peculiar laws of Maine say there is no election, and the house must nominate two of the four highest candidates to the senate and the senate must elect. In the house the republicans have 91 members to 60 of all shades of opposition and the senate stands 19 republicans and 12 opposition. The governor, who was the late democratic candidate, and his council which is democratic or fusion, are required to compute the vote for senators and representatives and give certificates to those who on the face of the returns, shall "appear to be chosen." Thus the power is conferred upon the present democratic authority of the state to issue certificates to such senators as it shall decide to be elected but it has ever been assumed that the computation would be honestly made and the result honestly declared. It has been feared by the republicans and intimated that the governor and council will when the vote is to be certified reject sufficient returns to displace four or more undoubtedly elected republican senators and give certificates to the democratic or fusion defeated candidates. Such action would give the counted in senators the prima facie right to the seats and as the republican house can send but one republican candidate for governor to the senate because three of the four highest candidates are of the opposition a democratic or greenback governor would be elected for another year. [illegible] Garcelon himself has a history quite reputable and his administration has been respected by people of all parties and it will be a surprise to some who know [illegible] intimately if he shall thus invoke the [illegible] of all the fair minded people of his state. The Philadelphia Times an independent journal hears that fraud ran riot at the Maine election that operatives and laborers were intimidated that the [illegible] and the venal [illegible] and that republican power [illegible] and money defeated the opposition, and [illegible] that there are doubtless shades of truth in all these accusations as is the case in all warmly contested elections but no sane man doubts that the republicans have elected their majorities in the senate and house with reasonable fairness and that if one side exceeded the other in the improper control of votes it was simply because its resources were greater and not because the inclination of the other was less. But [illegible] that here are such charges of fraud as demand consideration the law decides the proper tribunal to pass upon them and that [illegible] the governor and [illegible]. It is [illegible] the vote [illegible] the return appears [illegible]. They can call upon towns to correct any [illegible] or defective form in the [illegible] possess [illegible] judicial powers [illegible] to revise or reject returns [illegible].

GREAT BRITAIN'S WHEAT SUPPLY

In England a question that is attracting [illegible] attention now as any other is that of the needs of the people and the probable supply of wheat during the remainder of the harvest year. The London Times in an article occupying three [illegible] columns usually devoted to editorial matter gives a most elaborate digest of the situation upon the question in the British Isles. Among the important facts and conclusions presented are that the average yield of wheat in the United Kingdom for several years past was 29½ bushels per acre of merchantable wheat which excludes tailings which should give a yield of [illegible] bushels on the 3,056,000 acres seeded to wheat for the last crop. But the average yield of the past five years is only 24 bushels to the acre and this year it has sunk to 18 bushels. To make the matter still worse much of the present crop is miserably poor in quality so that it will yield much less flour than the average English wheat which weighs 62 pounds to the measured bushel so that the deficit this year is a very large one. The mean of the last 15 years gives the following as the movement reduced to bushels

Home production	3 604 000
Imports	86 000
Consumption	[illegible] 400 000

In the last two years the United Kingdom imported 116 064 000 and 145 435 000 bushels respectively. This year the want of the people will be 1?2 000 000 bushels of which they must import 144 000 000 or 28 000 000 bushels more than the average of the last two years. The Times thinks too that the poor quality of English wheat will not permit the farmers to obtain more than 48s 9d per quarter for it in spite of the increased demand. Comparing this price with the 55s [illegible] which was the average of the five years ending with 1870-71 and taking into account the diminished yield there is a poor prospect for the British agriculturist. He has been poor on an average price of 48s 9d during the past five years with more wheat to sell at the price than now. What then will he do in the future?

The average yield in bushels per acre for several years past may be of interest

Year	Yield	Year	Yield
1868	34	1875	3
1870	32	1877	22
18.8	30	1879	18

There is thus an almost steady decrease from the hitherto normal yield of 29½ bushels which further complicates the problem "What will we do with it?"

H Kains of Jackson, the well known agricultural writer disputes the claim of the Times in regard to the quantity needed and thinks the people of the United Kingdom will not need to import more than 138 000 000 bushels during the current cereal year. Even that however is some 20 000 000 bushels more than last year or 70,000 bushels per working day in excess of the requirements of the twelve months ending last September. We note that about half the surplus of the United States on this year's crop is believed to have already left the hands of the farmers. If this be the case, the fact that the wheat in sight at principal points of accumulation in this country is now not far from 35 000 000 bushels, will prove to be an argument of no great importance to the bears in the market.

This is the period when almost anybody can enjoy the felicity of finding himself mentioned for president. Don Carlos Buell of Kentucky is the latest democratic candidate suggested and ex Congressman Scott Lord is the man who does it. His idea is that Buell while a life long democrat has a brilliant record as a union general is sound on all the results of the war and would sweep the country as did Andrew Jackson. It would be a great thing for the democrats to find a candidate who could do this sort of sweeping, but it may be doubted whether there will be a unanimous conclusion that the Don Carlos Buell broom is the one to do it.

The Indianapolis Journal says that the almost universal feeling among the democracy of Indiana is that if Mr Hendricks is thrown overboard and refused the first place on the ticket they will not present a name for the second, nor will they encourage the candidacy of any man for the place. We can safely go further and say that in the opinion of nine hundred and ninety out of every thousand democrats in the state the placing of a hard money democrat from Indiana on the tail of the ticket would weaken instead of strengthen it in the state. This is not a policy expression but one of cold facts.

Aleck Stephens is an odd old character. Being interviewed as to the rumor that some prominent southerners are in favor of going in for Grant he contents himself with the remark that "in my opinion the south might go a great deal farther and fare a great deal worse." He is also quoted as considering John Kelly "the purest and wisest statesman that ever came from New York."

About the most discouraged set of men in this country is the congressional committee which Hendrick B Wright has been leading all over the country in search of hard times. Anybody but a congressman would have known from reading the newspapers that the hard times were over and so saved the national treasury a needless bill of five thousand dollars.

PORTLAND SEAMEN'S BETHEL

[COMMUNICATED.]

Since the erection of the magnificent (Union) block corner of Stark and First streets many persons may allow the old "Gem Saloon" to pass out of memory. But the old building in which so much drinking and gaming was carried on in ye olden time has entered upon an entirely new career since its purchase by the Portland Seamen's Friend Society.

At the preaching service last night Chaplain P R Stubbs addressed a goodly audience mostly seafaring men taking for the subject "The Ninety and Nine Righteous and the One Lost Sheep" mentioned in the 15th chapter of St Luke's Gospel. First seeking the lost and, second, the recovery of the lost were the points set forth and illustrated by means of his nautical experiences. The discourse was listened to with marked attention.

Mrs. Stubbs spoke in her usually forcible way and others in the congregation appealed to the unrenewed with fervor and good effect. After a general statement of his own conviction and conversion to God the chaplain stated that one of his seafaring brethren present was down on his knees in contrite prayer to God. He then asked all present to kneel at the mercy seat. About thirty seamen with others, all knelt in reverent homage while Mrs Stubbs offered petitions to God through the mediation of Jesus Christ. The prayer and the scene before us were deeply affecting and so strikingly in contrast with scenes of other days in that building that we felt constrained to make this mention of it as an item calling for the gratitude of all right thinking persons and as pleasant information to those Portland friends through whose contributions the Bethel has been established. It is a pity that some one does not lend the Bethel workers their much needed services on the organ. Here is an opening for usefulness that surely needs only to be mentioned to secure help.

THE CAUSE OF INTEMPERANCE

Many cases of confirmed drunkenness can be traced directly to the use of alcohol or spirits in physicians' prescriptions or in patent medicines. The Oregon Kidney Tea is free from any such fault, being a vegetable remedy in its natural state and a sure cure for backache and all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. Do not fail to try it if you are suffering from any of these complaints.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr Boschee's famous German prescription and is prepared with the greatest care and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constantly increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggists as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

WM SCHEFFLER'S ST HELENA

SANITARY VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor [illegible] government revenue officer at Cincinnati [illegible] says in his report, that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few if any pure wines or brandies are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—but all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that there is much complaint is made there of the appearance of in large and [illegible] dangerous ingredients in all their French wines that [illegible] great deal [illegible] of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be [illegible] were it necessary to prove this superior [illegible] best class of [illegible] Orders from abroad [illegible] addressed to Wm Scheffler [illegible] H[illegible] St Helena Napa county Cal will receive prompt attention.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

[illegible] history of civilization [illegible] a problem [illegible] experience has [illegible] brought to a satisfactory [illegible] Roman [illegible] improvement [illegible] thoroughfares in the [illegible] and the great highways leading [illegible] the attention of the highest [illegible] of government [illegible]

[illegible]

Portland has performed her share in street experiments of the most durable class of improvements by trying plank, Nicolson, macadam and [illegible] we hope of the Belgian stone block ab[illegible] to be [illegible] by private enterprise. Plank [illegible] undermined [illegible] short lived [illegible] expensive. Nicolson pavement [illegible] the highest [illegible] thoroughfare but it is not durable. Macadam is just undergoing the test of experiment [illegible] so far proves [illegible] the present requirements at a cost very much cheaper than former experiments [illegible] complaint is made that it will be dusty in summer and muddy in winter which may be another factor in our street experiments to stimulate further investigation.

Under the provisions of our street ordinance by which all the late and present contracts are now being macadamized the work was put in for 85 cents per lineal foot of street. Plank cost $1 [illegible] for the same extent and in five years goes to decay and at the close of the same period the macadam is still there a firm and durable foundation for any other class of improvement. The Belgian block pavement with all that is conceded for it is not a durable and economical pavement unless it is based upon a firm strata of solid foundation which the macadam may contribute as the foundation of block paved thoroughfares in the commercial side of the city.

Within a few weeks the city council has repealed sections [illegible] and [illegible] the street ordinance by amendment which revolutionizes the former plan of street improvements by repealing the ordinance for macadam under which the last street work has been performed and amended those sections in its stead which will be far more costly to the property holder and instead of 85 cents cost of macadam per lineal foot the lowest possible contract rate cannot be macadamized for less than $1 50 to $1 60 per lineal foot. Belgian block pavement will cost about $5 10 per lineal foot and must be preceded with a solid foundation of worn macadam or its equivalent at further expense.

As street improvement is of interest all classes alike to whom thoroughfares are common property, our citizens should devote some attention to this subject, and each and all of them act as an advisory source in conjunction with those whom they have elected to be the exponents of their will in municipal improvements. This subject properly includes a review of past street administrations, as also an exposition of the most advanced ideas on the street work of the future which I may prepare for your columns if acceptable to yourself and readers.

LATE NAVIGATION OF THE UPPER COLUMBIA

BY REV G H ATKINSON

WALLULA NOV 1

One needs to take a trip in November to know the rapids and the improvements demanded Every week one or more boats get more or less broken The largest must stop Others can hardly take half a load up or down The same power and more skill and toil must be used to do half the service That is the rapids and shoals and fogs add 100 per cent to the cost of freights up and down The Navigation Company must count this added cost to the danger of breakage and damage of cargo over the cost in summer Business men are thankful under these difficulties to get goods up and wheat down Thanks to the perfect arrangements made by the company and to the skill and faithfulness and hard work day and night and constant watchfulness of their officers and agents pursers and clerks and engineers and deckmen and wharfmen Everything moves with accuracy at every station on boat and railroad car Seldom is a package mislaid or lost of the tens of thousands handled eight times over every week The same energy and faithfulness brings thousands of tons of wheat every week from Walla Walla to this point and goods up on the railroad so opportunely built and equipped by Dr D S Baker, and added by sale to this line of commerce

The farmers too are glad to get off their crops and receive their cash for larger enterprises next year But the rush of freight to the Walla Walla warehouses puts every team in line, and every consignment in its turn on the books of the receiving clerks One agent said that now over 9000 tons are registered for transportation which probably must remain till spring at Walla Walla All the freights which are now known to amount to 18 000 tons must remain till April in the counties bordering the Snake river No doubt the farmers there need the cash for their crops At present high rates for wheat and flour their delay of shipment is a loss not only of time but of tens of thousands of dollars of hard cash For example 30 000 tons is the estimated amount to be held back by rapids, reefs and rocks These obstructions can be removed in a few months if congress will grant the funds The loss on these 990 000 bushels by delay may be 50 cents per bushel or $495 000 which falls upon the settlers in one year alone If our delegation in congress will by hard work secure half this sum for improvements next year that entire amount can be promptly in autumn put on ships at Portland and Astoria, with other larger harvests in prospect and sent to Europe

INCREASE OF HARVESTS

The estimate for shipment of the crop of 1880 is rated at 100 000 tons Some set it higher as settlements increase rapidly and land is taken and entered more rapidly than ever. An intelligent gentleman stated at the Dalles that the rate of land entries in Umatilla county has been of late a thousand acres per day

The N. P. R. R. Co s resolution on the 19th of November to sell their lands at $2 50 per acre, is hailed as a boon to the settlers It will turn multitudes shortly to their routes " In view of such facts the crop of 1881 is estimated at 200,000 tons for export

THE LACK OF WATER IN THE COLUMBIA OR SNAKE RIVERS FOR NAVIGATION

Some suppose the rivers will be abandoned if the proposed railroads are built. But there is water enough to run boats far up the Snake and Clearwater, and Columbia, with a few portages and proper improvements, and huge open sections that are now untouched What is needed along the water routes now traversed and others to be opened is a wise outlay to blast reefs and rocks that lie in the channel, and wing dams to turn shoal waters into one channel The Columbia and its affluents in these upper sections are not brooks or mere mill streams, but mighty currents that have cut their way through basaltic dykes down almost to tide-water They flow over solid stone bottoms or pebbly reefs, with rocks and dentated ledges thrusting up their sharp hard teeth, gashing and piercing the boat keels and planks, and breaking the buckets It is not like the quicksands of the Missouri that change place and depth every season, or with every passing boat, rendering improvements impossible These channels are solid and permanent, dug by the slow erosion of the ages past, for the use of the ages future. Like the grand storehouse of riches in the soil, they are to serve man for untold generations. They are fixed waterways, which need only, like other natural structures, some of the roughness cut away for man's more facile use.

Eight of these reefs and rapids obstruct the route between Celilo and Wallula and fifteen between the Columbia and Lewiston on the Snake river, Every item of blasting done remains good for all future years But it is a vexation to appropriate for such rivers what might do for small streams.

SKILL OF CAPTAINS AND PILOTS AND ENGINEERS AND OTHER OFFICERS.

A trip like the one to-day on the Almota with Captain Baughman, Pilot Spelling, officer Stone and Engineers Moody and Fitzgerald, with Purser McAmmon in charge of passengers and freights, gives a lesson of accuracy in this river drill, new to me and valuable in itself. The question among the passengers was as usual, when can we reach Wallula? Can we get through to night? We cannot promise said the captain If we can start at 4 o'clock A M, we may do it, provided the fog does not become thick At noon, Captain B said, we lost ten minutes at the rapids below. We had not quite steam enough An hour below Umatilla the captain and pilot said, we will be at the wharf seven minutes to 4 o clock P. M by your time and eight after by ours We can tell the moment within a boat s length, where we will be at any point on the route, after we start from Celilo, if not hindered by fogs in winter or winds in summer, or by accident on rock points or reefs. The current is steady. The freight is exactly adjusted. The steam is gauged Every man knows his place and his duty. At precisely 3.53 P M, the boat touched the wharf boat at Umatilla In two minutes she was fast and the plank out In four minutes passengers and baggage and packages were out and in one minute more she was off In forty-five minutes, said Captain B, I will be through the Umatilla rapids, six miles, if I can get through to-night In forty-six minutes with full steam and large load, he was through.

By such drill the upper Columbia is now made a valuable highway of commerce But on the trip down his boat caught on a submerged rock, while he was towing a barge, which detained him seven or eight hours, and lost a day We met three boats that had been detained a day partly by fog One had four syphons at work The boats are built in water tight compartments The Almota has 70 If one or a dozen get pierced and filled the boat will pull off and complete her trip and perhaps one or two more before going on the ways for repairs.

When the railroads do most of the transportation for the lower half of this great basin of the Columbia these boats will thread their way through the upper half, bringing the treasures of fields and forests and mines and quarries, especially if aided by wisely liberal grants for improved channels

Dick Lewis the genial agent of the O & C R. R at Roseburg for the past eighteen months, intends leaving for the benefit of his health

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast,

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture

DR PAUL M BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life how to be healthy and happy if they would only be guided by his wise counsel But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to their mode of treatment and he can cure as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim He has not only treated these diseases most successfully but has made them a life study as a few moments consultation will prove

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including disease caused by the
